

Global Change Notification (GCN)

Product Family	SL	10659318
		GCN Number
Series	Multiple	November 11, 2014
		Date Issued
Reason For Change	Supplier Changes To Raw Material
Change Description	"This letter is to inform you of a change in manufacturing location of raw material (plastic resin) use for the connector's housing listed in this GCN. The change is due to an effort by the raw material supplier to increase their supply reliability which they have successfully completed the qualification of additional production capacity. This has been accomplished on a machine of equivalent technology, where they have adapted the same formulation, standard operating conditions, and product quality specifications. With the exception of the physical location of the equipment, there is no difference in the material specification or quality. The raw material supplier will implement this change November 1, 2014. With this short notice from the raw material supplier, we have no other alternative but to accept this production location change and inform you of this change."
